

Corporate Communications

How often do you need to deliver an important corporate communication quickly and efficiently across your organisation? It could be a product launch, executive message, general promotion, recruitment or induction, well, Tympani can help.

By using our specialist skills in the broadcast industry, your message will be relayed in a creative and cost effective manner. Whether you need your communication to be on a Disc, streamed, or Podcast.

We can link your programme into a group communication activity which will deliver you a report of who has watched the programme and more importantly what have they learned, giving you a great measurable on your return on investments.
